

STATEMENT OF INTENT AND VALUES FOR SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Through this Statement issued by the Company's Management, which is sent to every one of its members, ACCIONA Cultural Engineering would like to lay bare its firm commitment to the Governing Principles for Sustainable Development which will preside over all events it manages.

The purpose of defining these Governing Principles is the search for global sustainability in all of ACCIONA Cultural Engineering's events in terms of the environment, the economy and society.

These principles and values are also detailed in its "Event Sustainability Policy," based on the UNE-EN ISO 20121:2013 standard, which lays the foundation for ACCIONA Cultural Engineering's framework for action.

The Company's four Governing Principles for Sustainable Development are:

- 1. Inclusivity: For measuring the level of involvement of all stakeholders, how they identify themselves and how they deal with issues related to sustainability. ACCIONA Cultural Engineering will develop an effective framework to promote responsible dialogue and communication with all stakeholders in order to seek their continued involvement and commitment. They will be sent a copy of the Company's Event Sustainability Policy as soon as a relationship begins, and all stakeholders involved in the process will be provided training on sustainability. Issues regarding sustainability will be contemplated in a structured manner, and they will be divided into three categories based on their sphere of impact: social, economic and environmental. A joint plan will be devised alongside stakeholders in order to be able to fully take into consideration their expectations and needs from the very beginning of the event creation process, and actions will be taken to create shared value regarding the sustainability issues evaluated. In order to bring about continuous improvement, it will be vital to receive feedback from all stakeholders regarding the sustainability issues defined for each event.
- 2. Integrity: For measuring the Company's openness, honesty and transparency. ACCIONA Cultural Engineering will enforce compliance with all current and applicable laws at all of its events, fostering ethical behaviour based on respect for human rights, good governance principles and fair competition. It will also adopt a long-term perspective to develop the business and increase its profits. The implementation of sustainability in ACCIONA Cultural Engineering will be a strategic process that is aligned with the Company's broader strategy, including its vision, intentions and objectives. ACCIONA Cultural Engineering includes the principle of integrity in its Sustainable Events Policy, which is shared with and sent to all stakeholders at all of its events.

- 3. Responsibility: As a responsible company, ACCIONA Cultural Engineering evaluates the sustainability management of the events that it organises through collaborating with its stakeholders and internal teams. ACCIONA Cultural Engineering introduces sustainable improvements through its set of measures that aims to offset its carbon footprint, calculated for each event. ACCIONA Cultural Engineering will safeguard equality of opportunities, promoting a safe and healthy workplace. In addition, it will provide all of its workforce with training on sustainability, using external providers whenever possible. ACCIONA Cultural Engineering has introduced a sustainable purchasing policy which demands that its suppliers commit to the sustainability issues defined by the Company. ACCIONA Cultural Engineering also takes into consideration other factors when selecting suppliers, such as their location, the transportation methods and materials they use, the cost, the enforcement of equality of employment opportunities, the hiring of people with disabilities and the use of materials until the end of their service life. Whenever possible, ACCIONA Cultural Engineering will assess the potential environmental impacts and risks as well as the business decisions taken while managing events, with the goal of ultimately minimising and offsetting them.
- 4. Transparency: For measuring ACCIONA Cultural Engineering's approach to managing the sustainability of its events. In addition, the Company will regularly publish true and relevant information regarding its performance at events, always promoting transparency in the sustainable management of its events.

Within the framework of this Statement of Intent and Values for Sustainable Development and the Governing Principles for Sustainable Development relating to event management, the performance of ACCIONA Cultural Engineering is evaluated by means of the “Sustainability Maturity Model,” which is reviewed annually by the Management and all stakeholders involved in the management of the Company’s events.

Additionally, each year Management will issue a report summarising the main actions taken with regards these governing principles, which will be shared with all stakeholders, and it will also request feedback in order to continue improving together in the future.

This Statement of Intent and Values for Sustainable Development is also set out in other relevant policies already in place in the Company:

- ACCIONA Group’s Sustainability Policy
- ACCIONA Cultural Engineering’s Event Sustainability Policy
- ACCIONA Cultural Engineering's Quality Policy
- ACCIONA Cultural Engineering's Environmental Policy
- ACCIONA Cultural Engineering's Health and Safety in the Workplace Policy

This Statement of Intent and Values for Sustainable Development is reviewed annually by Management with the aim of continuously improving it and improving the global performance of the Company and all stakeholders who directly or indirectly participate in planning the sustainable events held by ACCIONA Cultural Engineering.